CHINESE LANGUAGE VIDEO
ADDED TO ASSESSOR'S WEBSITE

Los Angeles County Assessor Rick Auerbach today announced a major addition to the department's Internet website: a third version of "A Matter of Value" – the informational video which explains the property assessment process and how the Office of Assessor works.

English and Spanish language versions of the award-winning video have been available for viewing or download at the lacountyassessor.com site and the latest version in Mandarin can now be accessed as well. The text of all three versions is also on the website.

"In recognition of the diversity and various cultural needs of Los Angeles County residents," said Auerbach, "we have provided these options for those seeking to learn more about the assessment process. We also are translating our written brochures into many different languages and making them available at our offices or by mail."

All three versions of the 15-minute video will soon be available in DVD or CD-Rom formats, Auerbach added, and can be requested by groups or individuals through the website's Contact Us/Public Inquiry link or by calling (213) 974-3101.
